Exercise 1

Choose the correct word.

The way that people dress has changed a lot over the centuries, and clothes that were once <sup>1</sup>confident / selfish / fashionable can seem very strange just a few years later. Similarly, someone who is the ideal <sup>2</sup>weight / height / haircut in one period may seem too thin or too fat in another. The idea of how a man should look if he is to be described as <sup>3</sup>handsome / selfish / rude can change. And even the way that people <sup>4</sup>figure / behave / serious, and how we feel about it, is different from one period to another. For example, in the nineteenth century, young girls were expected to be <sup>5</sup>shy / male / keen and not speak unless someone spoke to them. Now, though, in many countries they are expected to be much more <sup>6</sup>elderly / confident / middle-aged – no different from a boy, in fact.
